

“AGNIYOGANA: Lower the Head and Invoke the Fire” Feature Documentary Partners with CORE to Raise Funds For Praajak

WASHINGTON D.C. | MARCH 2023 | ANIYOGANA partners with CORE for a limited time donation-based screening to raise funds for Praajak, a foundation securing a better future for children and youth living in disadvantaged communities in India. The 2019 feature documentary partners with CORE to reach global viewership and raise awareness for the foundation.

AGNIYOGANA is an award-winning feature documentary and meditative inquiry into the lost art of classical Hatha Yoga. The film examines the microcosm of the internal self in relation to the macrocosm of the elements, seasons, time of day, and other external forces of nature. The narrative is woven together through commentary, wisdom, and insight from those who continue to uphold and live by the ancient ways of yoga.

“As I studied the classical texts and systems of Hatha Yoga, and traveled the globe meeting those who were adept in the traditional forms, I saw the great potential of a film that illuminated the holistic practices of Hatha Yoga through the words and experience of authentic practitioners.

We needed to go back to the roots. To reveal these traditional practices to others so they may be remembered and once again shared with a world in need. To light the fire of inquiry in the next generation of spiritual aspirants. The tagline of AGNIYOGANA, Lower the Head and Invoke the Fire, is an invitation to bow to the fire within each of us.” - Emma Behaves, Director & Executive Producer

The distribution partnership is inspired by CORE’s mission to share stories which elevate global consciousness and discovery of the world around us.

ABOUT AGNIYOGANA | AGNIYOGANA is an award-winning feature documentary and meditative inquiry into the lost art of classical Hatha Yoga. Offering an experiential collage of action and stillness, light and darkness, sound, and silence, AGNIYOGANA explores the richness of traditional Hatha Yoga teachings and rarely seen glimpses of traditional Hatha Yoga practices as expressed by modern day yogins.
